

JOEY mack

Growing up in Cincinnati, Ohio, Joey Mack was rooted in music from a young age. As the years went on, at the age of 13, he finally picked up a pen and began to write. Each year went by and he became more and more talented. By 2010, he had realized he was onto something, and decided to pursue it. By 2011, he was one of the biggest hip hop artist in Cincinnati. Now, Joey Mack is an independent hip-hop recording artist/songwriter via Broadcast Music Incorporation (BMI). Joey Mack since then has performed the opening acts for Machine Gun Kelly, Kid Ink, Twista, Hopsin, Raekwon, and Afroman. He has performed at the 2012 Self Diploma Summer Beats on Ft. Square (Cincinnati, Ohio) with thousands in attendance; featured on the world famous DJ Wat's (1st DJ to ever play Kanye West) mixtape, hosted by Wink Lock (signed to Young Jeezy's label), "Streets Choice Volume 2," which is available on DatPiff.com; worked with multi-platinum producer Lo McGee (who has produced for Big Sean, Trey Songz, Wiz Khalifa, and Nipsey Hussle) on his debut single, soon to hit iTunes and more. Joey was featured on the 2011 Self Diploma Summer Slam Concert Series, held downtown Cincinnati at Ft. Square, which brought acts such as Jermaine Dupri, Talib Kweli, Chip Tha Ripper, Stalley, Machine Gun Kelly, Fly Union, and Fonzone Bentley. Joey Mack is becoming a house-hold name very quickly in Ohio, the Mid-West and abroad, with a fan base stretching from Cincinnati to the UK, Africa, Australia and more.

With big dreams and even bigger plans, comes full commitment, dedication, persistence, perseverance and the over all will to just go after what you want. No hand-outs just hard work and skill.
