

SLEEP American hiphop artist Sleep hails from Cincinnati, OH and has been dropping highly acclaimed and equally highly reviewed albums and videos since he hit the scene in 2013 with the release of his first album "Lockland 95". With a style that mirrors a mixture of midwest and east coast, Sleep tells hiphop stories with the best of them and paints pictures that you can see from an audio track. Placing in the Top 25 of FUNK VOLUMES (Don't Funk Up Our Beats) annual rap contest for 2015, Sleep was able to show that he is much more than just a song writer and story teller, he can go bar for bar with the best. Racking up over 800,000 views on his vevo/youtube channel "Sleep the Fraternity" and over 3700 subscribers, Sleep's music has caught on quite quickly and his fanbase is thriving as well on facebook and other social media.

With the release of Sleep's new album "The H.W. Bush/Clinton Era", he is ready to make an even bigger splash and earn the respect and time of new fans and peers alike. Being featured on over 100 online blogs such as "This is 50" and "Fake Shore Drive" it is apparent that Sleep is all about cultivating a nationwide fanbase and touching hiphop listeners anywhere that he can.
